disqualification under Local Civil Rule 11-3(b).1

However, counsel for Smith ignores the plain language of the rule which provides that pro hac vice status can be granted to an applicant if "authorized . . . by an order of the assigned judge" which the application here was.

Further, as the Reply Declaration of Max Folkenflik demonstrates, the cases in which Mr. Folkenflik appears in California are all Federal cases, other than one. In most, the cases are pending in New York and were transferred to California for pre-trial purposes by the Multi-District Litigation Panel. Mr. Folkenflik has conducted his practice of law in New York and has only made limited appearance in California in any of those actions. He has appeared in California in the Hoffman action, but that case alone, or even in combination with the Federal cases, can hardly be considered the "regular[]... practice of law in California."

We have found no case in any Federal court in which counsel was denied the right to appear pro hac vice under such an approach and the application required by the rules does not even require disclosure of those other actions. See Local Civil Rule 11-3(a). The realities of current practice in the Federal courts, particularly in class actions, are that counsel often practices nationally, with numbers of cases occurring in various jurisdictions. Counsel for defendants, and other plaintiffs' counsel are also engaged in multiple cases in California Federal courts. Were the Court to adopt the rule urged by counsel for Smith, the ramifications of such a ruling would go far beyond this case (where it may require disqualification of other defense and plaintiffs' counsel) and would disrupt practice in the Federal Courts.

¹ Local Civil Rule 11-3(b) provides:

⁽b) Disqualification from pro hac vice appearance. Unless authorized by an Act of Congress or by an order of the assigned judge, an applicant is not eligible for permission to practice pro hac vice if the applicant: (i) resides in the State of California; or (ii) is regularly engaged in the practice of law in the State of California. This disqualification shall not be applicable if the pro hac vice applicant (i) has been a resident of California for less than one year; (ii) has registered with, and completed all required applications for admission to, the State Bar of California; and (iii) has officially registered to take or is awaiting his or her results from the California State Bar exam.

POINT II

THE STIENER CASE DOES NOT PRESENT A CONFLICT FOR COUNSEL

Counsel for Smith asserts that counsel for Holman must be disqualified because of their representation of Plaintiffs in a separate unrelated litigation, Stiener et al. v. Apple, Inc., et al., Index No. C07-04486 SBA. The basis of the claim is that counsel may be forced to divide time between that case and this one, or that the defendants may make an offer in settlement in Stiener, conditioned on a favorable deal in this action. See Smith Mem. in Opp. at 6. As to the division of time, all counsel have more than one case to handle, and that is hardly a ground for disqualification. As to the conditional settlement, it is impossible to imagine that any such unethical offer would be made and certainly none would be accepted. "[C]ourts sensibly hold that speculative conflicts of interest do not preclude a finding that class counsel is adequate." In re BearingPoint, Inc. Sec. Litig., 232 F.R.D. 534, 541 (D. Va. 2006), citing, Williams v. Empire Funding Corp., 183 F.R.D. 428, 440 (E.D.Pa 1998) (holding that "merely speculative and hypothetical" conflicts of class counsel will not bar class certification); In re Olsten Corp. Sec. Litig., 3 F.Supp.2d 286, 296 (E.D.N.Y. 1998) (same). As the court also noted in BearingPoint, "[t]his is especially so, given the procedural protections afforded by Rule 23's mandated judicial supervision of the class litigation and any proposed settlement." ld.
